

Sister La Verne Schwartz works on plans for children at a new day care center

Location of Center Will Aid UNO Parents

A new day care center is scheduled to open August 20 at the Prom Town House, 70th & Dodge. The new facilities will accommodate up to 80 children and will include evening care and an Early Childhood Enrichment Program.

"We have set up a program to further develop individual choice," said Sister LaVerne Schwartz, who heads the day care program for the Center for Educational Services, Inc. "A young child is experiencing a new world. We hope to help with a positive involvement." Sister Schwartz holds a Masters Degree in elementary and early childhood education and has worked with the Montessori method for teaching children.

Working with Sister Schwartz are Sharon Schroeder, who will assist during the day time sessions, and Josie Byrnes, who will manage the evening sessions. Both are certified and experienced teachers who specialized in early childhood education.

The new day care center allows for the enrollment of children for full days and Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for two or three days a week. Half-day programs are also offered, as well as special drop-in care and evening care. Sister Schwartz said that those with irregular schedules may work out an arrangement for their child with the center's officials.

Evening care facilities will be provided for pre-school and grade-school children from 5:30 to 10 p.m.

Day care fees are tax deductible, and the new center will allow fee reductions for additional children in the same family.

Sister Schwartz emphasized that parents enroll children now, as children are accepted at the center in the order they are received. Information may be obtained by calling 556-5161, Extension 206.

No Quorum Again Issues Unresolved

Bobbie Micca, waits for the arrival of three more senators. Fifteen senators attended the Tuesday meeting.

The Student Senate failed Tuesday, August 7, to achieve a quorum for its last meeting of the summer. Important legislation that still remains pending includes the Student Government 1973-74 budget, approval of Debbie Magee, Tom McCormick, and Bill Maddox to attend the National Student Association (NSA) convention in Florida at the end of this month, and the status of the UNO Record Shop.

Since the next senate meeting will not be held until the beginning of the fall semester, a problem arises concerning UNO's representation at the NSA convention. Legally, the Senate must approve its representatives to the convention. The necessary approval has not been attained for lack of a quorum at the last three meetings of the senate.

Student Government President Dave Parker stated that the three selected representatives will attend the NSA convention. He maintains that the Senate Executive Committee approved the three to attend the convention, and this is all that is necessary since there will not be another Senate meeting before the convention.

The status of the UNO Record Shop, as with the 1973-74 budget, will remain in doubt until this fall.

The Record Shop was closed by the University administration earlier this summer because of its continuing deficit. The administration, however, offered student government the opportunity to re-open the shop if it would assume the necessary responsibilities for its finances.

President Parker stated that he was confident that the budget issue and the Record Shop problem will be solved quickly once the Senate begins its regular session in the fall.

Summer Statistics Released

A total of 6,401 students enrolled in summer sessions at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, according to statistics released by UNO Registrar Virgil Sharpe.

Fully 4,565 students attended UNO classes during the first summer session June 11-13. A total of 559 students enrolled for the evening session June 11-August 2, and 933 are enrolled for second summer session classes which began July 16 and will continue through August 17. In addition, 344 students enrolled for UNO classes at Offutt Air Force Base.

The 6,401 total compares with 6,300 students last summer.

Enrollment breakdown, by colleges and programs:

- Affiliate nurse program, 110
- Inter-campus students, 347
- Non-degree students, 452
- College of Arts and Sciences, 855
- College of Engineering and Technology, 191
- College of Education, 822
- College of Business Administration, 405
- College of Continuing Studies, 1,078
- University Division, 245
- College of Public Affairs and Community Service, 242
- Graduate College, 1,310
- Classes at Offutt Air Force Base, 344

This summer UNO enrolled 5,542 residents and 859 non-residents. There are 3,068 men students and 3,333 women students.

Parachutist Tries Ground Work

A few pieces of masking tape brought this familiar sign up to date.

By J. C. Casper

Sixty-five years isn't all that long. Perhaps it was mere chance that a woman was never hired. But that's all in the past now, because in July UNO's Physical Plant hired Betty Rogers for the grounds crew.

Just four months ago the mother of five was living in Portland, Oregon with no idea that her next job would be on the custodial crew at UNO. After three months at UNO she transferred to the grounds crew for the best of reasons — more money.

Rogers' day begins at 7 a.m. and she spends the entire day outside. During a normal day she "pulls weeds, and trims trees." She explained that the university has a system where they take a week and teach someone a specific job. The next week you teach someone else what you've learned." Last week she said she worked on trash removal.

In response to the question of how she is treated by the men she works with Rogers explained that this is not the first time she has worked with an all-male crew. At UNO they are "for the most part very considerate. One day I offered to help move some railroad ties and they refused." Her male co-workers explained that they were afraid she would hurt herself.

Rogers admitted that it gets pretty hot in the sun all day, but there are periodic breaks. "They took the time before I got the job, to explain the duties so I'd know what was required," she said.

The job is a changing one but Rogers has had quite a varied background. She has held a private pilot's license since 1947 and she is a professional parachutist. In 1949 she was quite an attraction as the only female parachutist in an air show.

The jobs at UNO involve more than just a willingness to work, Rogers explained. "Take grass cutting. It isn't just cutting grass, we have to learn how to take care of the machines, sharpen the blades, and so on."

This winter is something to which she is looking forward. "I really don't know what I'm going to do, but I'll be expected to shovel the snow, drive the snow plow, or whatever is required."

When asked what her feelings were about Women's Liberation, she replied, "I don't even know what women's lib is for or against." Regardless, Betty Rogers likes it at UNO and feels at home with her new job.

Award Goes to West

Mike West, director of adult academic programs at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, is the UNO "Employee of the Month" for August.

He was selected by a board of review from nominations submitted by UNO faculty, staff, and students. He will receive two tickets to the Talk of the Town Dinner Theatre and a certificate.

A staff member who nominated West said "Mike has an unlimited capacity for establishing personal relationships, usually in connection with helping students achieve greater value from college."

A faculty member wrote "In my opinion, and in the opinion of thousands of advisees he has helped, Mike could be the 'Employee of the Year.' His concern for students makes him a 'people person' and a credit to this institution."

West, of 5223 Jones St., joined the UNO staff in 1969. He has an undergraduate degree from Notre Dame and the master of science degree from UNO, and is pursuing work leading to the doctorate at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

His professional memberships include Omaha Continuing Education Council, which he has served as vice president; American College Personnel Association Commission XII, Adult and Continuing Education Association of Nebraska, and Missouri Valley Adult Education Association. He was one of three chairmen of the UNO United Community Services fund drive last year. He also has served as chairman of the UNO Ad Hoc Committee on Career Development.

His wife, Janet, is an assistant professor of economics at UNO. The couple has three children — Michael, 7; Jamison, 6; and David, 2.

Hollywood

Beautiful SPO has done it again. One of cinema arts oldest and most consistently bad films Arsenic and Old Lace will be shown to available people Chez' Cafe, Milo Bail Student Centre.

Money

If you want a good job get a good education. Pittsburgh Pedant Inc. Now makes it possible to finish high school while attending college. For further information call Lola Luna at la Gateway.

Help

The aging la Gateway editor, Cherie Kipple, today made an impassioned appeal to the citizens of the state of Nebraska for employment. Ms. Kipple, who is known to friends and family as Ms. Kipple, seeks light labor at unheard of and outrageous pay scales with a minimum of supervision and a private secretary. All prospective employers should send their resumes to la Gateway.

Fun and Games

The Nebraska chapter of the Foreign Legion will hold a Benefit Bank Run and Race Scare. The fete will consist of distrusting the present system of banking. A prize will be awarded to the first person crushed in the run to the drive-up window at any bank.

The Race Scare will be held at the cafeteria. Participants will cower in their automobiles, not knowing what will happen to them inside or if they can trust the food. Prizes will be awarded to the family of the first contestant to starve to death.

Tears of Joy

There was merriment in the la Gateway office this week when it was announced that Madame Rosalie Meiches, la Gateway secretary, had absolutely no intention of resigning from her job.

Vicious intrigue developed last week when a front-page feature story lead some people to believe that the glamorous Madame Meiches would quit due to her distress with the new accommodations the University is providing for la Gateway (the backroom of a well known Omaha pizza parlor).

As la Gateway editor Cherie Kipple wiped a tear from her overly made-up eyes, Madame Meiches cited ill-health and manic-elation as her reasons for remaining on the staff.

Radical Chic

The UNO Young Democrats (one of the most functional groups in camp circles) are now organizing for the coming school year. The kids are gonna need a little help selling the show come September time and they sure would love to have you aboard for the membership drive to be driven during the first regular school week. Also needed will be personable darlings with a little stage presence to help out with the Democratic National Telethon, also to be held in September. If this sort of thing interests you call Doug Clark, 333-9047.

New Life for Old Dogs

Are you sitting at home alone with a drink in your hand? If you are, you may qualify for a position with the new la Gateway staff. Come September time writers, photographers and other things that go clink in the night will be needed to help the vivacious and cloying Larry King, who will attempt to maintain la Gateway's fine reputation as a not only an insipid but a trite newspaper.

La Scene

by CHARBON

Shakespeare, in his history plays, chose to place the final lines of the play in the mouth of the character of highest rank of nobility. A marvelous parallel was drawn on opening night at the Firehouse Theatre. More about that later.

The story of Garson Kanin's Born Yesterday, for those two or three of you who are not familiar with this Pulitzer Prize winner, is interestingly simple. Big time, pulled up by bootstraps (egad) junk dealer "owns" a dippy broad who is too dumb to know that she "owns" him, legally at least. Having been forced into the Washington, D.C. malestrom, junk dealer decides dippy broad needs some smarts and hires bespectacled idealist to educate her. Dippy broad decides to educate bespectacled idealist, not in the same curriculum, however. Both educations are sufficiently accomplished. DB assumes rightful role and squares away JD; BI assumes rightful role and is squared away by DB; audience assumes rightful role and is convulsed in the process. Entire rightful role procedure is delightfully abetted by IA (inebriated attorney).

Oddly enough, the only opening night problems which were noticeable were exhibited by Herman O. Arbeit, the junk dealer (HARRY BROCK). Mr. Arbeit's rather impressive program credits lead one to expect an impeccable performance. Such was not the case. His obvious tendency to play Brock for nothing but laughs (with occasional third act exceptions) just didn't work. One is lead to wonder if every imported artist in the local dinner theatre scene feels compelled to "show the locals how to perform." More than one of the other character's laughs were stepped on by Mr. Arbeit's premature delivery. Opening night timing problems? ... perhaps, but doubtful.

The character of BILLIE DAWN, (dippy broad) should and must be played one of two ways: brilliantly or not at all. Janet Maddux opted for the former. Numerous comparisons to the character created by Judy Holiday were overheard. That's a pretty high compliment. But this writer saw more than that. Ms. Maddux gave the role a nicely balanced reading granting to the character a sincerity and warmth that extends beyond a mere imitation. She was, in a word, delightful.

Christopher Wines was appropriately subdued in the PAUL VERRALL role. Here is a young actor who has obviously been schooled in the art of ensemble theatre. He knows how to move and compliment those other performers he is working with. I know of no higher praise to give any performer.

A very competent supporting cast not only helps a play, it is a vital necessity. Harvey Cary's return to the Omaha theatrical scene in the role of Senator Hedges was most welcome, especially his salvation of Brock in the first act. Dear Ruth Davis, one of Omaha's really top character actresses sparkled in her brief dual role appearances. David Wahl "played" Eddie Brock.

Earlier reference to the closing lines of the play deals with as fine a performance as has been seen in one good long time. HAROLD CLIZBE turned in a superb performance in the role of the seldom-if-ever-sober Ed Devery, attorney at law (and laughter). The audience was captivated as was evidenced by the noticeable rise in applause level when Mr. Clizbe took his curtain call. His sense of comedic timing, all the while lending an absolute credibility to the character, was a thing of beauty to behold.

Hap Abraham's buffet was at its usual excellence as was the energetic and entertaining Brigade revue. Director Richard Mueller's tender solo work with the Brigade was a true high-point and was received enthusiastically. BORN YESTERDAY will play the usual Firehouse schedule. See it... and be happy.

"It's a sad situation when a guy can't even afford to buy books for this fall," complained Bill Burmeister. Bill says he already works too many hours a week and was looking for a way to pick up bucks without working.

Acting on a hot tip from Lola Luna, Bill rushed

La Gateway's Guide to Bucks Without Work

Information and Donor's Consent and Release." After signing the release, he found that he would have to undergo a physical examination.

After completing the necessary red tape, Bill was seated in a comfortable chair where an attractive assistant hooked him up to the equipment. The process is similar to blood donation, down to the Blood Plasma Donor Center at 1916 Harney.

When he arrived, he was told he would have to fill out a donor card because he had not donated to the Center before. He also found that he had to read and sign a form called "Plasmapheresis but the Center separates the plasma from the blood and then returns the red cells to the donor.

The process takes from one to two hours, after which he was rewarded with a $5 bill. "I'll go back again next week," said Bill. "It should just about cover the increase in the price of books."

Attractive Intramural Program Is Planned

The 1973-74 University of Nebraska at Omaha's Intramural Sports Program was announced recently by Intramural Director Burt Kurth.

Kurth, who is starting his 15th year as Intramural Sports Director, has lined up an attractive program which includes twenty mens events, one women's event and three co-ed activities.

Kurth indicated that he would like to see more women's and co-ed events. Any female organization or individual who wishes to participate in the intramural program can get more information by contacting him at the UNO Athletic Department.

The first sport on the intramural program is the Flag Football competition which gets under way the 4th of September. Kurth anticipates two leagues with the larger organizations in Class A and the smaller ones in Class B. The bootstrappers from the Pen and Sword Society are the defending champions. Entries for the Flag Football League open on August 24 and close on September 7. Games will be played in the Pep Bowl located in front of the Eppley Library.

Kurth mentioned that once the new astro-turf is installed it will be made available to the intramural program when not in use by the varsity football team.

Also starting in September is the 4-man bowling, knee-tackle football, team handball, and soccer.

All students registered for 6 hours are cordially invited to participate in the UNO intramural program. Varsity personnel in any one sport are not eligible to participate in the intramural program in that particular sport.

Mr. Kurth credited the Student Activities Budget Committee for their funding of the Intramural Program.

Borowiak Leads UNO Trackmen

Five University of Nebraska at Omaha trackmen participated in the Plains Track Club All-Comers Meet held last week in Papillion.

Leading the way was sophomore Frank Borowiak. Borowiak won the 120 yd. high hurdles (15.9); finished second in the high jump, triple jump and 100 yd. dash, and placed fourth in the long jump in addition to running a leg on the 440 yd. relay which took first place with a time of 46.2.

Tom Schrad, UNO's high-jumper, won his speciality with a leap of 5'8".

Lance Herold, the Maverick's outstanding walker, reverted back to running for this meet and finished third in the 2 mile run. Two newcomers to the Maverick cross-country and track squad also performed in the all-comers meet and were met with stiff competition. Bruce Westerlin did a fine job in keeping pace with veteran runner and former UNO distance ace, Mike McCormick in the mile run.

Bob Garcia, another Maverick yearling, finished third in the 880 yd. run.

Boots Plan Golf Tourney

The Pen and Sword Society is sponsoring an Open Golf Tournament which will be held on September 8th at 10 a.m. on the Dodge Park Golf Course in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The tournament is open to all faculty, staff, and students at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. There is a limit of 100 entrants and this will be determined on a first-come basis.

There will be two types of flights played over the 18-hole course: a Championship Flight for those golfers who would like to compete on a scratch basis, and a Handicap Flight which will be broken down into approximately 20 man flights. Golfers will be flighted by their gross score and the "Callaway" system will be utilized to determine the winners in each flight.

Awards will be presented to the first three finishes in the Championship Flight, the first four finishers in the Handicap Flight, and, in addition, awards will be given for "closest to the hole," "longest drive," "shortest drive," and "high gross score." A total of 26 trophies will be presented.

A Potluck Buffet Dinner will precede the awards presentation which will be held at the Kingsbrook Apartment Clubhouse at 7:30 p.m. on the 8th of September.

Entry blanks are available throughout the UNO campus and at the Pen & Sword Society, From Town House, 7000 Dodge Street. Deadline for entries is September 1, 1973.

Davis In World Games

Fourth Place Finish

University of Nebraska at Omaha's outstanding quarter-miler George Davis qualified last week for the World Student Games as a member of the United States 4 x 400 meter relay team.

Running under adverse weather conditions which included winds in excess of 50 miles per hour, Davis finished in fourth place with a time of 48.8.

The race was won by Dennis Schultz of Oklahoma State with a time of 47.2. Also qualifying for a spot on the U.S. team was Ron Jenkins of Texas Southern, Don Sturgal of Texas, and Darwin Bond of Tennessee.

The meet, which was held in State College, Pennsylvania, was a qualifying meet for the World Student Games which will be held in Moscow August 15-21.
